The winner of the second flip chooses to shoot or defend first and that order will continue until a winner is decided. If the table of the shootout is agreed upon, then the winner of the flip chooses the side of the table or to shoot or defend first and the loser picks the remaining option.
- If tied at the end of a first round shootout, then a second round takes place in the same order. The first team to score a point and successfully block the opponent wins.
